Math Extension: Counting Money

Teacher uses purse as a prop. Before each speaking of the poem, teacher places coins into the purse. The challenge is to count the money found in the purse.

In teams of 2 (or any number you wish), students are given the purse. While the rest of the class is speaking the poem and asking/playing the questions, the team is counting the money.

During the tremolo (drum roll), the team reveals the amount of money.

Coins and purse are returned to the teacher, who begins the game anew.
